LAYOUT

The space is used primarily for a hair studio, but has been carefully designed to be highly flexible and adaptable, with a moveable elements that can be rearranged or moved to the sides for events to take place. The liner plan adapts perfectly to creating different zones and even atmospheres where necessary.

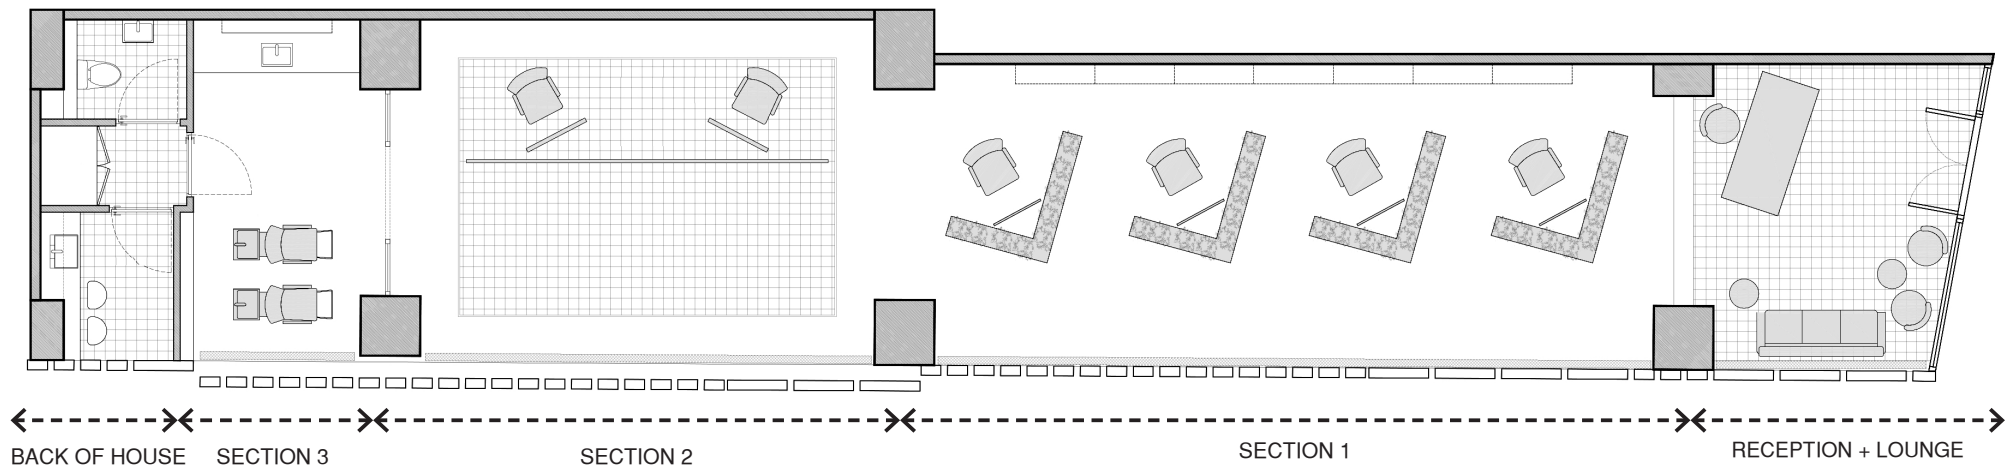

We worked with expert architects and lighting designers to incorporate a high quality, bespoke lighting design in the space. The lighting has built-in adaptability that can change to suit the desired atmosphere for the space or a specific event.

In its studio set-up, elements are arranged in such a way as to allow fluid movement throughout the entire space. The reception is positioned in a prominent location next to the entrance and is combined with a lounge area offering a spacious, comfortable space for waiting or just having a coffee.

Styling sections area arranged in an unconventional manner, forming a center piece feature that allows fluid movement around the units and privacy for each section.

Each frame stands independently of the other, as its own pod and have been designed with flexibility and adaptability in mind such that they can be easily rearranged to transform the space for events and a multitude of different uses.

The back of house area is located in a more secluded area of the salon with additional screens for privacy and with provisions to section off the space. This area consists of a kitchenette space with sink and storage as well as a larger preparation counter space and sink area.
